WRESTLING FOR THE LILY HAND.

BY C. E. GRAHAM.

The verdant and extensive plains of Western England, have been the subject of many a travel-ler's theme, and justly so, for nature has been lavish for the unpractised eye. But the feelings awakened by the beauty and the genius of the English landscape, dotted with the neat and unpretending cottage—surrounded by the abode of wealth, present no charm to the traveller, in the more strong and tender emotions which are to be experienced in the lofty mountain, the deep valley, the roaring torrent, and the steep precipice—for which North Wales is so celebrated. It ought to be the land of inspiration and of song. Rivers and streams without a distinct number, roll and dash through its mountain valleys. The scenery which rises almost perpendicularly on the one hand, and sinks with the very brink of the streams, while anon the dark defile, deep, narrow and barren, which serve to designate the course the soften stream takes between, are all of them particularly calculated

SATURDAY EVENING POST.

PHILADELPHIA, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1837.

FINANCIAL RECORD.

Philadelphia, Money Market.—Wednesday, 13th inst.—The news by the Liverpool, received in our last, produced considerable excitement in the money market yesterday, and the holders of Bank stock were in demand at 5 per cent. premium. C. S. Bank, which for such holders had been as low as 3, brought 5 per cent. Girard bank rose to 95½ and most of the other banks have likewise risen a trifle since our last weekly. Money is in good demand at 6 per cent. monthly.

We have before noticed an interesting letter in which good paper had been sold out of doors for less than 1 per cent. a month while Uncle Sam had to pay 2 per cent. a month for the use of his money. At 6 per cent. interest, in one or two instances, we have heard of such paper offered as low as 5 per cent. the legal rate of interest. The true value of either monthly rate is a good thing cheap.

Finances of Harrisburg.—In the message of Gov. Wolfskill, it is stated that the revenue of the state, $330,081, fell short of the expenses of the year, $442,324. The ordinary expenses for the ensuing year, without estimating appropriations that may be made by special acts of the Legislature, will be $400,000. The receipts for the same period can be expected upon the present basis of taxation. Some additional provisions are therefore required to enlarge the income of the state, and to reduce the expenses of the state government. The amount of state debt created for purposes of internal improvement, and for which the faith of the state are at this time held by individuals, is $1,452,000. The interest upon this debt, payable in bank stock, of $1,070,000, leaving a balance against the state of $394,100.

New York Money Matters.—With regard to the Money Market, the New York Express says, "Matters in this city are not quite so flat as they were last month will not command more that 1½ a 2 per cent more legible to be a worst of business paper. The condition of the times has been such for the last six months, that very few customers have been made, and the Banks find less paper of this description offering than usual. The intelligence from the South
